The marriage of Miss Leila Roome, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Oscar Roome, took place at St. Andrew's Church last evening, at &s clock, the Rev. Joseph B. Perry officialting.

The church was elaborately decorated with palms and white chrysanthemums, the pews. reserved for the relatives and intimate friends of the bride, being marked with bunches of large pink chrysanthemums of the Japanese variety.

The groom and his best man, Mr. E. E. Alexander, preceded by the rector, entered the church from the vestry, and awaited the bridal party, at the chancel rail. The wedding party entered the center aisle, preceded by the four ushers. Mr. W. H. Syme, Mr. James Towers. Mr. E. Kinmel, and Mr. William Oscar Roome, Jr., who wore boutonnieres of chrysanthemums and Bride rosebuda. Then came the brite-maids, Miss Hessie Sydnor and Miss Woden, in white organile, with white satin ribbons. They carried buge yellow chrysanthemuma, tied with white satin ribbons. Washington society enjoys no more brilliant functions than those held at the Chinese legation, and the announcement that the series of entertainments, at which Mine. Zang Zu is the gracious hostess each season, will soon begin, is halled with plensure. There is much rejoicing in the stately provinctions mansion above which the dragon of China waves just now, owing to the fact that the absent minister will soon return.

the fact that the absent minister will soon return.

A cablegram received today states that Mr. Yang Yu and suite, who are now in London, will sail from Senthampton for New York, December 7. The minister is on his way from Madrid, having visited Spain this fall to present his credentials, he being accredited also to that country. The members of the Chinese legation are quite the most picturesque foreigners of the diplomatic set, with their gay tobes and fantsatic head dresses. Mme. Yang Yu, in her gorgeous scarlet and gold thread gowns, with odd fioral sdorments fixed to the queer, tight-fitting head dress, that is ever a part of her containe, leading by the hand her bright little soo, is one of the most stractive rigures seen in amart drawing-rooms directions.

Signal for many gay affairs at the legation.

Miss M. Agnes Leaman and Mr. Edward E. Magruder were married Thursday might at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Leaman. Aubrey Park, Mo. The bride, a perite bronette, was radiant in her robes of white satm, with toile veil caught with lilles of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses.

Miss Rebecca Leaman, maid of honor, was costumed in pink silk, and carried La France roses. Mr. Fred Charley acted as best man, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Huchling. Rev. Mr. Merburn of Rockville officiated.

After a wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Magruder left for the North. Many handsone gifts were received, and among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Taff. Misses Lizzle Fauth, Mary Kellar, Mamie Boyle, Mrs. Bloomer, Mr. W. J. Kempton. Abe Gradwahl and Gus Retdel. Misses Virgie Q. Brown, Gertle, Mand, Josie and Ida Nally were also of the party.

Josie and Ida Nally were also of the party.

The ladies of the Pierce Guild will serve luncheon today at Wiliard Hall from 12 to 5, for the benefit of the Washington Home for Foundings, this being the second and hast day of their gracious work in this direction. The menu was a particularly enjoyable one yesterialy, from the fact that the dishes were home-made and personally served by the ladies, assisted by a corps of young girls. The same attractive bill of lare will be repeated today.

Though the ladies of the Pierce Guild donate their charitable earnings to the hospital, they do not turn it over to the board of trustees, but expend it in any way they think most beneficial to the tiny inmates. During the summer they provided awnings, and later added a telephone, that was badly needed, and assisted in general repairs.

The officers of the Guild are: Mrs. W. H. Bayly, president; Mrs. J. C. Pennie and Mrs. O. J. Staples, vice presidents; Mrs. W. C. Wood, treasurer, and Mrs. V. H. Mose, secretary.

Miss Juliet Thompson of No. 1720 H street, will entertain at a tea, to be given in her studio this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Thompson is a handsome and tai-ented young woman, both of which facts are made evident in the exquisite pastel portrait of herself, the product of her own art, now on exhibition at Fischer's gallery.

The delicacy and veracity of the work remind critics foreibly of "La Chocolatiere," one of the gems of the Dresden gallery.

The Original Unity Club will hold a meeting this evening in the parlors of the Litch-field. Dr. W. A. Croffut, so well known in Washington literary circles, will deliver an address entitled "Ought."

Among the reatures of the evening will be recitations and solos by such local favorites as Mr. Goldwin Patten, Mr. R. Clinton Ballinger, Miss Corby, Miss Reichenbach, Mr. Charles L. Miller, and Mrs. Mary Haywood.

Mrs. William W. Cook and Miss Grace Oimstead of New York, who baye been the guests of Mrs. Georre G. Martin. No. 1322 L street northwest, for several weeks, have returned to their bome.

Mrs. Catlin, wife of Capt. Catlin, U. S. A., retired, will give a tea December 17 in bonor of her debutante daughter, Miss May Catlin.

The engagement is announced of Miss Marguerite Fuger, daughter of Capt. Fred-erick Fuger. Fourth Artillery, of Wash-ington Barracks, to Lieut. David M. King. Fourth Artillery.

Miss Sadie Harrison, of Leesburg, Va., is risiting Mrs. F. E. Marlowe, of Thirteenth street northwest. Told Before.

Charlotte Cushman was once filling an en-gagement at the opera house in Beimore. A man in the gallery created such a disturbance that it seriously impeded the progress of the play and finally brought it to a standstill.

Immediately the audience, furious with anger, cried: "Throw him over!" "Throw him over!" Miss Cushman stepped to the edge of the footlights, and in a sweet and entle voice exclaimed

DAMAGE CASE RETRIED. Idow of Robert A. Keys Sues the

B. & P. Railroad Company.

The case of Jeann-tte E. Keys, administratrix of the estate of Robert A. Keys, and is widow, against the Baltimore and Potomac Bailway Company for damages on account of the killing of the busband by a train at Benning station a year or two ago, came up this morning for refrai in circuit court No. 2, before Justice Mc-Comas.

circuit court No. 2, before Justice McComas.

The case was once before decided in favor of the plaintiff, and the full amount of the claim of $10,000 awarded, but inpen appeal the judgment was set aside and a new trial granted.

The plaintiff's attorneys will undertake to show that upon the occasion of the death of Keys, he and five others, not including the driver, took passage in a public conveyance to go to a certain place, which necessitated the crossing of the railroad tracks at Benning's statton.

It was in the night, and when the crossing was reached, it is alieged, the safety gates were open; there were no lights and watchman, one Richardson, was asleep. The driver, a man named Godfrey, attempted to cross the tracks, when an express train, then due, ran over the vehicle, and Keys was killed.

The attorneys in the case are: For the widow, Messra. Carrington and Coleman; for the company, Garnett and Totten.

Hamlet with a Vengeance. The following synopsis of "Hamlet" is used in the playbills by a company now touring Missouri. It causes "Hamlet" to read like an old-time melodrama. The final line is not based on the play:

SYNOPSIS. Act 1—Elsinore. The palace. The plat-form before the castle. The appearance of the ghost of Hamlet's father by whom is re-lated his "strange and unnatural murder." Act 2—The feigning of madness. Hamlet arranges with the players to play before the usurping king (his uncle) a scene resembling the murder of his father. "The play's the thing wherein I'll catch the conscience of the thing wherein l'It catch the conscience of the king."

Act 3—The plotting of the king and Polonius to test Hamilet's sanity. Hamilet's grief at Ophelia's complicity therein. The play scene. The king's guilt made clear. "I take the ghost's word for a thousand pounds." Hamilet and his mother. The slaying of Polonius. "I must be cruei only to be kind. Thus had begins and worse remains behind."

Act 4—Ophelia driven insane over Hamilet's demeanor and the slaying of her father. "I have a speech of fire which fain would blaze, but this folly drowns it."

Act 5—The grave-diggers. The burial of Ophelia. Hamilet and mother's death. "Here, thou murd'rous damned Dane, follow the problem."

"Here, thou murd'rous dammed Dame, follow thy mother." The death of Hamlet. "The potent poison quite o'ercrowds my spirit. The rest is silence." Good-night, sweet prince, and flights of onge! sing thee to thy rest.

Gentlemen will not spit tobacco juice on the floor, and HOGS will not be permitted A gleam of flashing footlights, A lushed and breathless crowd, A violin's low murmur, A clash of music loud—

A long, low sound of wailing— A sob, a burst of grief, A passionate appealing, A prayer, and then relief; A sudden cry of gladness, A joyous rising strain— A chorus of the angels— & lingering refrain;

Then louder, grander, higher, Ou, on up and out— The crashing of an earthquakef A nation's happy shout!
